Implement geometric objects point, line segment and ray. Create approprtiate data structures for the objects. Use the concepts as discussed in the class. Your program should ask for the user input and display the outputs creating the geometric objects. The graphic visualization of the geometric objects is not mandatory however your effort for this will be appreciated.